

Vocabulary

I can discuss the meaning of new words by linking it to vocabulary that I know.

Unkind = not kind

I can recognise predictable phases and patterns in known stories. Once upon a time, they lived happily ever after.

I can join in with predictable phases and patterns.

I can use age appropriate dictionaries to check the meanings of words. Picture dictionaries, first dictionaries.

Oral:

I can orally retell known stories.

I can recite some simple poems and rhyme by heart.

I can answer questions orally about a shared non-fiction text.

I can discuss a wide range of texts beyond my own independent reading level.

I can read aloud taking notice of punctuation.

Word Reading

I can use my phonics and skills to read books.

I can identify the tricky parts in words

I can read words of more than one syllable and those that end in -s, -es, -ing, -ed, -er and -est.

I can accurately blend sounds in unfamiliar words that contain the sounds that have been taught so far.

I can correctly and quickly read the graphemes for all 40+ phonemes including the alternatives taught so far.

I can read words with contradictions.

I can self correct when I misread a word.

I can re-read books without overt sounding and blending.

Response

Find and Explain:

I can talk about stories, poems and non-fiction that I have read and heard.

I can identify key characteristics of familiar stories. Good and evil characters, happy endings, happenings in the past.

I can link my own experiences to help understand a text.

I can pick out key information.

I can understand that non-fiction texts provide information.

I can explain the title and explain how it links to the story.

I can identify fiction and non-fiction texts and explain why they are different.

I can understand that non fiction texts provide information.

Sequence:

I can sequence events in a text. E.g through story mapping/boarding.

Infer:

I can use clues in a text to understand what is happening or how a character might be feeling.

Predict:

I can make simple predictions based on my own experiences.

Overarching target:

I can enjoy with a wide range of familiar poems, picture books, fairy tales narrative and non fiction.